Commencement of Trial Processing

Dear Sir/Madam

Nex Metals Explorations Ltd (Nex or the Company) provides the following update to the market.

Cosmopolitan Tailings Research Project – Trial

The Company is pleased to advise that the trial processing up to 10,000 tonnes at the Cosmopolitan Tailings Research Project has commenced, with the required approvals in place from the Department of Mines, Industry Regulation and Safety. The company is working on the processing of at least 350,000 tonnes as a minimum in the near future without the use of chemicals as a proving concept prior to full scale operations using research and development and methodologies garnered over the last 5 years.

The Company will update shareholders over the coming weeks as the trial progresses.

On Behalf of the Board

Ken Allen
