Shareholder Update

Nex Metals Explorations Ltd (Nex Metals or the company) is pleased to provide the following update to shareholders with respect to the tailings processing trial at the Kookynie Tailings Research Project<sup>1</sup>.

Processing equipment has now been assembled and commissioning is taking place (see photo 1). Water permit for 35,000 tonnes per annum of water is approved which will be sufficient for the complete tailings project. It is expected that recycling of the water through the process will enable a re-use of up to 90%.

The approved trial includes 2 X 10,000 tonne parcels. Cosmopolitan dump 5 has been identified as the primary source along with part of dump 6 to make up the 20,000 tonnes. The disturbed area will be rehabilitated post processing. Shareholders should refer to Nex Metals Shareholder Updates of 22 November 2017 and 25 January 2018 on the ASX for details of drilling results under the JORC Code (this announcement refers to those announcements).

Fund Raising.

With completion of the Securities Purchase Plan fund raising the work for the application for approval of the balance of the tailings being tails dumps 1, 2, 3 and 4 (see photo 2) will be fast-tracked for submission. Only remaining item for the application being a Geotechnical report for the proposed relocation of the tailings.
